

The Green Bay Mike and Key club contacted relatives and friends of local residents in Rapid City, S.D., last week during that city's disastrous flood. From left are Bob Heiser, club president, and Dennis Dal Santo. Joe Taylor also participated in the activities. About 20 calls were received by the radio club which is housed in the American Red Cross, Lakeland chapter building. The club will receive the American National Red Cross certificate for outstanding community participation during field day operations Saturday. James Lang, ARC safety services committee chairman, said "club members have donated countless hours in providing communications for our disaster assignments and in equipping our radio room for continued service to this community. The equipment these volunteers have made available has continually proven invaluable when our disasters have taken us outside of Green Bay."

Hams Get Award — Jeff Hamilton, service administrator for the local Red cross, presents an award to Bob Heiser of the Mike and Key Club for the organization's volunteer radio activities in times of disaster. The award was presented during a field day Saturday during which ham radio operators tested their equipment. Heiser, club president, is blind.
