

Field Day

There is a special yearly event for the prospective ham.
One lasting a whole week end that's an exciting jam!
A session of communication lasting hours non-stop.
The goal is for each station to come out on top!

And just what's that event of which I'm talking about?
Why it's called "Field Day" with a resounding shout!
Many make shift amateur stations come together with the hopes of decent non-stormy weather.

To test out their skill in station assembly ability.
Letting would-be hams gain some proficiency.
Learning what works and noting what won't,
is something experienced hams readily flaunt!

Stations attempting to gain a multitude of reports.
Often times while wearing t-shirts and shorts.
All the while remaining in a relaxed atmosphere.
That's how you'll find such folks each and every year!

When those total contacts are all tallied up and sent,
It's the ARRL who'll declare the winner of the event!
The station for which the most contacts were made is the one who receives the highest passing grade!
